

November - December, 2014

Dear Friends,

Thank you for your prayers, financial support, and burden to fulfill the Great Commission. Thank you for permitting us to be your co-laborers. It is our daily desire to advance the cause of missions. We seek to do so on every trip taken, every appointment kept, every conversation held, and every divine appointment. We want to be faithful in reaching the world with the Gospel.

The Lord allowed me to preach at Ambassador Baptist College during their Missions emphasis week. God led me to preach to these laborers-in-training on why Christ said you could not be my disciple. (Luke 14) The three things Christ mentioned plague missionary work today. Those three things are a divided devotion, a dereliction of duty, and a deliberate decision. Pray for the students whose hearts the Lord touched during that week. Your investment allowed me to influence men and women for the work of missions; thank you.

The Lord gave opportunities to further the cause of missions in eight churches since November. In these meetings, believers made commitments to give like the Macedonians. Commitments to give themselves to the Lord and to the work of the Lord. I appreciate the Lord opening these doors. Your investment of prayer made the difference in the preaching of the word of God; thank you.

The Lord provided moments to encourage and equip missionaries in their work for the Lord. Missionaries are like you. They have highs and lows. They have great successes and equal losses. In my place of service God brings my way such as these. I cannot tell you their personal stories. Yet, I can tell you, that missionaries needs your prayers as Satan desires to sift as wheat the laborers of Christ. Your investment in our ministry enables me to stand at the intersection of hope and hurt to share a word of consolation; thank you.

Finally, Kim and I wish you and yours a blessed Christmas. It is our prayer that you see the reminders of God's grace, mercy and peace as we rejoice in the birth of Christ.

Serving Him,

John O'Malley
