Dear Praying Friend,

God answered your prayers for safety, strength, and success on our journey. We visited these and others on our South American trip. (From top to bottom, let me introduce these precious families.)

Dickens: The Dickens are church planting and training leaders. We visited their works in the city. The Lord is using them to touch every age of people with the Gospel. Their children were welcoming; we enjoyed being with the whole family.

Lockharts and Schrocks: The same home church sends these two families. They are partnering in a church plant. These families are exemplary in their work for the Lord. We spent an equal amount of days with them. God gave us a special church service on the Sunday night we visited.

Blumers: Kris and Rose Marie assist in a Christian School. They both serve in a National Church. They have an outreach ministry in a women's shelter. They are learning the language and doing well.

Galis: Chile was our first stop. They met us after an overnight flight and made everything easy for us. The Galis' passion for the people to whom God called them is clear. They experienced several tests and trials during our visit. The Lord strengthened them. Sadly, we only partially captured Brother Gali in the photo of his family. He is holding the iPad.

Rackes: The Rackes have over 40 years in Spanish ministry. The Rackes serve in the Andes Mountains in Urubamba, Peru. They have a ministry of education, seminary training, and discipleship.

Kim and I travelled for over three weeks. We will never be the same. It increased our vision for souls, our empathy for our missionaries, and strengthened our resolve to be used to help get the world more missionaries.

Remember, Paul asked the believers to strive together with him in prayer. Let me encourage you to do the same. Your missionaries need you to strive together with them in prayer.

Thank you for praying for us and supporting us.

Serving Him,

John O'Malley
